

Imperial Airways Celebrates 15th Birthday

Britain Takes Lead In Aviation

(By Our Aviation Correspondent)

I AM ABLE to reveal a fascinating story of Britain's lead in commercial aviation, in the fact that the Hongkong public get their letters from the Homeland in six days. It is the fifteen years history of the Imperial Airways Company, largest air-line in the world.

Daily giant flying-boats of latest design and pattern carry the air banner of Imperial Airways over desert and ocean, over high mountains and deep valleys, over monsoon-swept coasts and storm-ridden landing-fields.

Recently without any show of ostentation, without the full-blown publicity methods of other air companies, the British national airway celebrated its fifteenth birthday.

Few of us in Hongkong were privileged to witness those early days of the pioneer work, and it is mainly for this reason that the history of this company makes such interesting reading.

Formed in 1924

Imperial Airways was formed in 1924 in pursuance of an agreement with Government, and acquired the air transport businesses previously carried on by four existing companies, with the object of developing the cross-Channel air services previously operated by those companies and of extending the company's activities to all parts of the British Empire.

The following figures give an overall view of the development of air transport by Imperial Airways since its inception—

Year	Route Miles	Mileage Flown
1925	1,760	853,042
1926	2,336	867,075
1927	9,374	1,295,948
1928	14,158	2,354,176
1929	19,102	4,560,718
1930	21,403	6,223,068

Subsidies Paid

The above development has been achieved, it is confidently claimed, at a lower cost to the State than for any comparable development anywhere else in the world. The subsidy received by Imperial Airways during the first 14 years of existence is as follows—

Year	£
1925	£137,000
1926	£407,513
1927	£661,556
1928	£381,707
1929	£535,160

Foreign Subsidies

The total subsidies from 1924 to 1937—prior to the introduction of the Empire Air Mail Scheme—amounted to a total of £4,500,000. The Cadman Committee report issued in March 1938 contained the words, "We emphasize that British Civil Aviation cannot compete with subsidised foreign aviation unless it is comparably subsidised." The civil aviation vote at that time had already been increased from just over half a million in 1924 to £1,500,000 in 1937. As a result of the recommendations of the Cadman Committee the sum was increased in 1938 to £3,000,000. Compare this with the 4½ millions of subsidy received over 15 years, an average of about £348,000, or just over one-tenth of the amount now to be provided.

In the eight years 1926-34, the United States subsidised American aviation to the extent of £25,000,000. Compare the subsidy paid to Imperial Airways also with that paid to the aircraft operating companies of other nations.

Country	1938	1937
U.S.A.	£4,392,520	£4,050,301
France	£1,195,532	£1,505,017
Germany	£1,036,306	£1,202,047
Italy	£771,140	£873,892

Empire Progress

The main stages of Imperial Airways' progress are marked by the inauguration of new services. Only the more important events are included in the following list—

1924 Imperial Airways formed. Services to Paris, Brussels, Cologne, Basle and Zurich.

1925 Egypt—India route surveyed. 1926 Egypt—Iraq service established.

1929 Egypt—Iraq service extended to India. Trans-Mediterranean service established.

1930 Cairo—Capetown route surveyed. 1931 London—Central Africa service established. Experimental air mail to Australia.

1933 London—India service extended to Singapore. 1934 London—Singapore service extended to Australia. London—Capetown service became twice weekly.

1935 London—Singapore service became twice weekly. London—Prague—Vienna—Budapest service began.

1936 Khartoum—West Africa service established. Penang—Hongkong service established. London—Australia service became twice weekly.

1937 Bermuda—New York service. Empire Air Mail to Africa. Survey flight from Australia to New Zealand.

1938 Empire Air Mail to Australia.

Staff Increased

Almost every year the Company's history has, therefore, seen some new and important development in the routes operated or services established.

The establishment of these services has necessitated many increases in staff. In 1924, the staff numbered only 260, while now there are 3,658 persons on the payroll. They are employed in 30 countries, spread over five continents.

Because of the specialised nature of the Company's work, staff cannot normally be obtained fully qualified to undertake the diverse responsibilities required of them, and the Company has had to establish its own school for post-graduate training in air navigation, radio work, engineering etc. In addition, it has established a pupillage scheme for traffic staff. Among its employees are to be found citizens of all the Dominions and many of the Colonies.

Fleet Larger

Imperial Airways has always given close attention to other developments besides the mere extension of miles flown, and can claim to have established new standards in air travel. In 1924, the Company took over 18 aircraft of 7 different types. After digesting the experience that had accumulated up to that time, the Company came to the conclusion that to achieve financial autonomy, large aircraft employed intensively would be necessary. Imperial Airways, therefore, concentrated on eliminating their single-engine aircraft and replacing them by large multi-engine planes.

With each new type, higher speed as well as other improvements were called for, a compromise being made to secure the best balance of speed, range, paying load capacity, comfort and operating cost.

1926 Imperial Airways put into service in Europe the 3-engine Argo type aircraft, and the 3-engine high performance Hercules type in the Near East.

1928 The 3-engine, Calcutta flying-boats were put into service on the Mediterranean.

1929 Imperial Airways decided to standardise 4-engine aircraft for its major aircraft.

1931 The Scipio type 4-engine flying-boats were put into service on the Mediterranean and the Hannibal and Hercules 4-engine landplanes were commissioned for Europe and the Near East.

1932 The Atlanta 4-engine monoplane designed for operation from high altitude aerodromes were put into service on the Africa route.

1933 The 4-engine Diana class aircraft were specially designed and built to suit the requirements of the Singapore—Australia route. The type was also used for certain services in Europe, West Africa and the Far East.

1935 The Company placed orders for 28 four-engine flying-boats and 12 four-engine landplanes—the largest order for civil aircraft ever placed—amounting to approximately £2,000,000.

1936 Imperial Airways took an interest in the development of light refuelling and in the Mayo composite aircraft.

1936 Canopus class of Imperial flying-boats put into service.

1937 Caledonia made a non-stop flight—Southampton—Alexandria, 2,222 miles. Caledonia and the Cambrin made five return experimental flights across the Atlantic. The Centaurus made a goodwill flight to New Zealand and back, 30,000 miles.

1938 Flight refuelling experiments. The Mercury, upper component of the Mayo composite aircraft flew the Atlantic, making the fastest east to west crossing then made, and carrying a payload of 1,000 lbs.

Latest Plane

At the time of writing, the Company is conducting acceptance trials of the Ensign class aircraft, and the Frohisher class, which have cruising speeds of approximately 170 and 200 m.p.h. respectively.

Apart from the leadership in the use of multi-engine aircraft and being the first air transport company in the world to use two-engine, then three and, in 1931, four-engine aircraft, with spacious cabins and a standard of comfort and quietness of a new order for air transport, Imperial Airways was also the first company in the world to carry stewards, and to supply, first simple refreshments, and later full meals, 5-course lunches, and 7 course dinners.

Passenger fares have been reduced as the following examples show. For simplicity, the single ordinary fares that were in force in 1924 or at the opening of each service are shown side by side with the present fare:

Fares Lowered

Original Fare	1938
London—Paris	1924 £ 6.0.0 £ 4.10.0
London—Singapore	1933 100.0.0 130.0.0
London—Brisbane	1935 105.0.0 100.0.0

Appreciation of the Company's passenger services is best judged by the fact that whereas in 1925 it carried passengers a distance of 2,682,000 passenger miles, the volume of traffic had grown till for the year ending March 1939, passengers were carried a distance for 40 million passenger miles.

Postage rates for air mails have also been reduced, and mails have also been carried faster.

Imperial Airways has, therefore, first and foremost, built up a sound commercial organisation, and has taken advantage of all aeronautical advances while at the same time managing its affairs with prudence, and providing resources for developments and contingencies.

Largest in World

It has led the way in setting for its services a standard of comfort and reliability comparable with that of the older forms of surface transport. It has been all along a pioneer in the use of large multi-engine aircraft and standardised the use of 4-engine aircraft ahead of any other air transport company. Its fleet now numbers 87 aircraft developing more than 200,000 h.p.

Finally, by attention to cost, combined with foresight and enterprise, it has been able to give to the British Empire the benefit of air transport without extra cost, for all letters carried on the England-Australia and England-South Africa routes.

It is claimed that no other country in the world, regardless of the amount of money lavished on its air services, can show as steady, consistent and beneficent achievements on the part of its national air transport organisation.

HIGH HEELS LOSE MANNEQUIN'S CASE

She Fell Down At A Cinema

HER high-heel shoes were exhibited at Bradford County Court recently when Miss Muriel Cattell, an attractive mannequin, sued a cinema. She claimed £40 damages for injuries received when she fell down five steps while wearing high heels—and lost.

Judgment was given for the cinema company with costs.

CHARMING, BUT—
"I must admit these shoes are charming," said Mr. R. Bishop (for the cinema company), "but they are not exactly designed for safety going downstairs."

But tall, golden-haired Miss Cattell does not intend to let this stop her wearing high heels—and she has 32 pairs of such shoes.

"High heels are an essential part of modern-dress wear," she said at her home in Stump Cross, Halifax.

"Very high ones look ridiculous and are dangerous to health, but the normal high heel women have worn for years helps to keep one graceful and gives an attractive walk, which sets off modern fashions."

HER life almost ruined by road accident injuries, and her career as a singer ended, Miss Jessie E. Scott, a 26-year-old Stourbridge girl, was awarded £1,981 damages recently.

She was knocked down by a car last May.

The owner, Mr. J. R. H. Perry, of Pedmore, Worcester-shire, admitted liability at Birmingham Assizes and asked Mr. Justice Oliver to assess the damages.

No A.R.P. Shelter For Governor

Government House, Singapore, has no bomb-proof shelters. But inquiries showed that there is a cellar which may be adapted for A.R.P. purposes.

Raffles Museum also has no shelter. But Mr. F. N. Chasen, the Museum director, said: "Plans have been made for the safety of certain very important type and irreplaceable specimens in the event of a raid and special provisions have been made to deal with fire."

Foreign Offers For Navy Film

Foreigners were reported in Wardour-street recently to be trying to buy up films of the British Fleet on manoeuvres and other films of the Army and Air Force in action.

"Fantastic prices," it was stated, are offered for the "right films."

An Admiralty official said: "We have heard reports of offers being made for certain films of the British Navy from abroad. All these films, of course, are censored. They would be of little use to anyone seeking new information."

The following report was recently given by Mr. Widgey R. Newman, of Wardour-street, producer of the Coronation year film, "Our Royal Heritage."

"This film, showing 'Britain's might in the air, on the soil, on the sea, and in defence', had full Government backing. Special facilities were given by, among others, the Admiralty, the Air Ministry, and the War Office."

RODNEY BROADSIDE

Mr. Newman added: "A man walked into my office this afternoon. He said he was interested in certain sequences of the British Navy on manoeuvres, particularly those showing the Rodney firing a complete broadside. These 'shots' were unique. He offered me £2 a foot for a duplicate negative, which, in the trade, is an absolutely fantastic figure. He said he would pay cash. I said that I could not possibly sell him the negatives without first consulting the Admiralty, and he left."

Mr. A. Fried, of Wardour-street, a distributor, said: "I had a letter from Berlin to-day asking for films showing manoeuvres of the British Fleet. No price was mentioned."

THIEF EATS POISON BAIT

HOLLISTER, Cal.
Some unknown man here is believed to have saved the lives of at least two coyotes. He opened and ate two cans of tainted mackerel that had been purchased as coyote poison bait. The police waited for one to become ill of ptomaine poisoning, but the mystery is still unsolved.

OUT OF TUNE

Mr. Christie said the pipes were particularly unpleasant because, when blown in concert, they were out of tune.

Mrs. Compton said that often the noise which came through the party wall was so bad that she could not read, write, or concentrate on knitting patterns.

She had had to go out of the house to get away from it.

The hearing was adjourned.

HA'PENNY WHISTLES

Twice a week, from 10 to 4, there was singing, piano-playing, and a percussion band.

Mr. Justice Morton: What is a percussion band?

Mr. Christie: It consists of tambores, cymbals, drums and triangles. Besides that, they play pipes.

Mr. Justice Morton (a Scotsman): What, bagpipes?—No. Little hand-made pipes.

Mr. Charles Harman, K.C. (for Miss Bunting): What you would call ha'penny whistles.

Crown Land On 75-Year Leases

Because of the importance of the land base renewal question a representative of the Telegraph called on the Secretary of the Hong-kong Chamber of Commerce yesterday to enquire whether the Chamber had further information to give as to the discussions which were said in the annual report to be proceeding. Mr. M. F. Key said that a Special Committee of the Chamber had not yet concluded its deliberations and he could not make a statement.

Hongkong is under the leasehold system of land tenure, which obtains also in several other Colonies. The length of leases has varied. The oldest leases were for 75 years, but from 1840 to 1880 terms of 999 years were granted. From 1880 to 1888 the policy was again 75 years, but from 1888 to the present day the standard lease has been 75 years, with an option of renewal for another 75 years. At the end of the first 75 years there is a revision of Crown rent to the rate of the day.

Under the leasehold system, the land and the buildings upon it revert to the landlord (in this case the Crown) at the end of the lease. Renewals are granted, however, on payment of a premium. It is considered by the early 75-year leaseholders that, because the later leaseholders have a term of 150 years, their early leases should be extended for another 75 years, thus postponing for that length of time the premium which will be due at the end of the 75 years.

Of Equal Standing
The official view is understood to be that 75-year leaseholders and 75 plus 75 year leaseholders cannot be considered in different categories, nor can the one be considered more fortunate than the other. The 75-year leaseholder, who bought his lease in 1885, say, paid what he considered a fair price for the enjoyment of that land for 75 years, and the 75 plus 75-year leaseholder, who bought his lease after 1888, also paid a fair price, but higher, because of the longer tenure.

To grant extensions to present 75-year leaseholders without the payment of premiums would be conferring on them a benefit at the expense of the general community, according to the official view. The government might conceivably end in a wholesale demand for freehold leases, for at the end of the 75 plus 75-year leases, netting on this precedent, those holders might ask for a 999 years lease, and at the end of the 999 years carry the point further and request freehold leases.

There is no question of one party being more fortunate in the period during which the leases were taken out. The initial premiums must have been in equity with the tenure of those leases. What has happened is that certain leaseholders have failed to make provision for the premium of renewal during the term of their holdings, and the amount of that premium now appears high. Several leaseholders, however, have already agreed to pay the premium and increased Crown rents, and to refund them would involve a considerable sum of money.

999-Year Leases
As regards the 999-year leaseholders, and there are quite a few, official opinion is that it would only be a profitable venture for Government to buy them out if the compensation paid were less than the marketable value of the lands.

Government has already publicly announced its willingness to renew leases on payment of the value of the renewal, except, of course, where land may be needed for a public purpose.

The facts of the present case in Hongkong could best be represented, according to the official view, by supposing two leaseholders in adjoining houses had leases for five and seven years respectively. Under these circumstances it would hardly be reasonable for the one, at the end of five years, to ask for an extension of two years because his neighbour had a simply two years on his lease. It was simply a matter of contracts, and contracts expiring.

The present position of leaseholders is that at the expiration of their term the land goes back to the Crown if the terms of renewal are not met.

TOWN LACKS LABOUR

NEW OFFICIALS MEET
Po Leung Kuk Committee
Opening Session

A meeting was held on Thursday at the Po Leung Kuk when the new committee assumed office.

Among those present were: Permanent Directors: Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, Hon. Mr. Thomas Tam, Mr. Li Po-kwan, Mr. Tam Woon-tong.

Preceding Directors: Mr. Chan Kam-por, Mr. Chan Lan-fong, Miss Kwok Fung-him, Mr. Fung Chi-ying, Mr. Butnan Lam, Dr. P. S. Li, Mr. F. Y. Cheung.

New Directors: Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan (Chairman), Mrs. Ho Leung, Dr. T. Y. Li, Miss Irene Ho Tung, Mrs. L. Gockchin, Mr. Wan Woon-ching, Mr. Tong Yick-tong, Dr. Y. T. Liu, Mr. Li Shing-chi, Mr. Kwok Piu-cheung, Mr. Leung Sik-mow and Mr. Kan Man.

Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, expressed thanks to the retiring directors for having done their work so well under the exceptional circumstances of last year. As the war still continued, he said, the circumstances would remain unchanged, and therefore he hoped that the new directors would be able to meet with the situation with the same capability.

Mr. Chan Kam-por, retiring Chairman, thanked the directors for their support.

The Hon. Treasurer, Mr. Chan Lan-fong, gave the annual financial report, showing total receipts for the year at $38,028.15, and expenditure at $31,016.25, leaving a credit balance of $7,011.90.

The new chairman, Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan, assumed office with the following speech:

We greatly appreciate the encouragement which Mr. Chau and Mr. Chan have given us. The work of the Po Leung Kuk is to protect women and children who are in distress. I am most fortunate in having the support of my colleagues and Mrs. Ho Leung, who is one of the previous directors, and I feel sure she will be able to give us the best of support.

Under present circumstances the population of Hongkong is steadily increasing; therefore I feel that the population of the Kuk will increase as well. In that case I hope the Government, S.C.A. and permanent directors will continue to favour us with their help.

ROBBERS ENTER FLAT

Alleged Member of Gang Sent for Trial

Chan Ho-yiu, 21, shop assistant, was committed for trial for armed robbery by Mr. T. J. Houston at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Chan is alleged to have been one of a gang of three men concerned in a robbery in King Kwong Street, Happy Valley, on April 23, when money and jewellery valued at $347 was stolen.

Chan was arrested in Wanchai on April 23 by one of the victims, who was travelling in a tram and said she recognised him walking in the street.

Evidence of an identification parade was given by Mr. L. A. Searle, Assistant Superintendent of Police, who stated that Chan was picked out by the victims quite easily.

Cheng Sau-ying, 27, woman, said she returned to her house about 4 p.m. on April 23, when the door was opened to her by a man who threatened her with a pistol. She saw two others armed with knives and recognised Chan as the man who took her handbag, containing $20 in money, and a gold ring set with three diamonds from her finger.

After being gagged with an orange and a piece of cloth, she was bound and put into a cubicle with her mother-in-law, niece, and nephew. A chance encounter led to Chan's arrest two days later. As she was travelling in a tram, she said she saw a man who looked like one of the robbers, walking in the street.

She immediately alighted and on having a close look, recognised him. She caught hold of his jacket but he broke loose and ran away, only to be arrested by three pedestrians. In Mun-tun, 67, widow, said she was in the house at 3.30 p.m. when three men entered the house on the pretext of delivering a parcel. The robbers seized her and bound her.

Improving
Relations

Sino-American Cultural Society Formed

The Hongkong Branch of the Chinese-American Institute of Cultural Relations was formed at a social gathering held in the Peacecock Room, Cafe Wiseman, yesterday. The meeting was attended by a large gathering which included Sir Shouson Chow, Dr. C. T. Wang, former Chinese Ambassador to the United States, Mr. S. T. Bittling, Dr. Arthur Woo, Messrs. W. Yinson Lee, Y. P. Huang, Wallace Harper, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chen.

The Chair was taken by Sir Shouson Chow. Mr. Paul Deltz, who had been responsible for much of the organising, read the constitution of the Institute, which was adopted after a few slight amendments.

The purpose of the Institute, it was explained, was for the promotion of cultural relations and to cultivate closer friendship between the peoples of China and the United States. Among the activities of the Institute are the conduct of research and study on topics pertaining to the cultural development of both countries; the issue of publications on cultural, political, economic and social topics of interest to both countries; to give support to such undertakings as may be of mutual interest; hold regular and special meetings, as well as social gatherings.

Membership is open to any person of Chinese or American nationality residing in Hongkong. The Institute derives its revenue from membership fees, and any contributions or donations. The cost of membership per annum is $5.

Mr. Deltz said that many of the members of the Institute were at present residing in the Colony, and were formerly of Shanghai, and the branch of the Institute had been formed in order to allow the peoples of China and America to get together, as they had done in the northern States. The headquarters of the Institute were in Chungking and New York, and the President of the latter was Mr. Henry L. Stimson, former United States Secretary of State.

Officers elected at the meeting were: Hon. Presidents: Mme. Sun Yat-sen and Dr. C. T. Wang;

Executive Committee: President, Sir Shouson Chow; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. S. T. Bittling and Y. L. Lee; General Secretary, P. K. Chu; Chinese Secretary, David Lu; American Secretary, Paul Deltz; Hon. Treasurer, Roy Larcher. The five Chairmen of the Membership, Research, Publicity, Social Service and Programme Committees were Messrs. A. J. Campbell, Chen Pin-ho, Percy Chen, R. Strong and W. Yinson Lee. Messrs. Albert Yuen, T. B. Wilson and Walter H. Chen were elected members of the Committee.

Those elected to the Advisory Board were: Dr. Y. M. Chien, Dr. S. N. Chau, Hon. Hsu Shih-ying, Dr. Li Shu-pui, Dr. Shu Hsing-tso, Dr. T. C. Tai, Dr. Arthur Woo, Messrs. P. N. Chung, S. S. Church, C. M. Gee, W. Harper, William Hui, Tsuyee Pei, H. S. Mok and P. H. Sim.

COWAN AND BAILEY
Hotel Entertainers Return
For Short Season

Cowan and Bailey, the popular entertainers who have thrilled Hongkong audiences with their clever piano, songs and banjo routines are booked for a limited engagement at the Hongkong Hotel, starting on May 10.

These popular entertainers have been operating the famous Coconut Grove Cafe in Singapore since they last appeared here and are taking a well earned vacation by coming to Hongkong before the opening of their new Cathay Cafe and Roof Garden which will be the most beautiful night club in the Far East.

Cowan and his songs at the Piano and Bailey with his dynamic banjo and droll personality will present besides their floor show specialty, consisting of latest numbers and song hits and costume numbers that have won them fame and recognition everywhere, individual table entertainment intimate in style and originality. With hundreds of the latest song hits at their command they sing and play any song you wish for. This is new and Hongkong will welcome it again as Cowan and Bailey were the first to introduce it.

Costume numbers, such as the Roman Senators, Cleopatra, Spring Beautiful, Spring, The Flower Girls, The Cowboys, etc., will be new to Hongkong audiences and will bring a thrill and many a laugh.

On May 10 Cowan and Bailey will be joined by Estelle Cowan, the popular Mistress of Ceremonies, who is bringing from America an intimate revue of Hollywood stars and beauties. The entire Cowan and Bailey revue Co. will appear at the Hongkong Hotel on May 10.

AMERICAN VISITORS

Newspaperman and Wife On Empress of Japan

The Empress of Japan yesterday brought an interesting couple in Mr. Colin Miller, assistant Manager of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Syndicate, and his young wife. Envious Easterners their long leave opportunities, they are crushing a round trip on the Japan into their six weeks' vacation.

Mr. Miller was reticent in his views on Eastern conditions, his experience having necessarily been brief. He said, however, that the American conception of conditions in the East was far from correct. "Do you find them worse or better than you expected?" he was asked. "Just different," he replied, guardedly.

LEGAL REFORM IN SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN. Important changes in the internal control of the legal profession in South Africa are proposed in a bill which aims at preventing unqualified people from encroaching on the profession.

The measure provides for the creation of a £250,000 fidelity guarantee fund to protect the public and legal practitioners against defaulting attorneys, notaries and conveyancers.

Banks and trust companies will be among those affected by the provisions protecting the profession against encroachments. Every practising attorney, notary and conveyancer will pay £10 a year until the necessary fund of £250,000 is raised.

CANADA

NAVAL RESERVE OF FISHERMEN

VICTORIA. The British Columbia Fishermen's Reserve of the Royal Canadian Navy, organised to patrol 1,000 miles of coastline, consists of the skippers and crews of 40 big fishing launches.

In answer to the Royal Canadian Navy's call to the colours 1,200 men have been in training at the old Esquimalt naval base.

They have learned the rudiments of mine-hunting, mine-sweeping, gunnery, signalling, anti-submarine tactics and general naval technique. In squadrons of 10 boats the Reserve has done intensive training at sea. In time of war these men will watch for enemy raiders, landing parties, submarines or minelayers.

Royal Visit China.—A familiar sight in shops throughout Canada and in many parts of the United States from now on will be pictures of King George and Queen Elizabeth on souvenir china, medals, spoons, fixtures and other articles commemorating the Royal visit this spring. In Canada the first consignment of souvenir china has arrived from England and is already on sale.

AUSTRALIA

NORTH EUROPEANS AS MIGRANTS

SYDNEY. The Federal Postmaster-General, Mr. Cameron, advocates the planned migration to Australia of Northern Europeans, such as the Dutch, the Germans and the Scandinavians. He says he believes that migration should go ahead as fast as it can be effected, and that it should be planned.

He declares that Northern Europeans are among the best agriculturists in Australia to-day, and that they form much of the backbone of the Continent.

Air Development.—The rapid development of aviation in Australia is emphasised in statistics which have just been officially released. Up to the year ended June 30 last year, 132,617 passengers were carried in aircraft. Subsidised companies flew 4,080,240 miles, and unsubsidised companies 5,435,528 miles.

CAUSE OF AIR CRASH

An "error of airmanship" caused the Jersey Airways liner St. Catherine's Bay to crash and burst into flames, with the loss of 14 lives, at the outset of a flight from Jersey to Southampton.

This is the finding, announced recently, of the Air Ministry Inspector of Accidents who investigated the tragedy of last November.

In his opinion—and the Chief Inspector of Accidents agrees—the crash was caused because the pilot, when making a climbing turn in cloud, inadvertently allowed the liner to fall into a side-slip.

She was at a height which did not allow him to recover control in time to avert disaster.

MINUTE AFTER LEAVING. A minute after it had taken off, the plane suddenly emerged from the cloud, at a height of about 120 feet in a steep left-hand sideslip.

It dived to the ground "with the engines apparently running under power," struck a bank and burst into flames.

Its thirteen occupants and a man working on the ground lost their lives.

Small-Town Doctor Made Great Discovery

This is the story of the life and death of an unknown country doctor. Few people outside of Dorset ever heard of him. He was never famous, never wealthy. But in his will he reveals the dividends of a wonderful discovery. His discovery—that kindness begets kindness.

GILLINGHAM (Dorset).

SIXTY-YEAR-OLD Dr. Arthur Walker, who loved his dog so much that he wanted to be buried in the grave where it already lay at the bottom of his garden, and who loved his patients so much that he gave them money when they could not pay their bills, has shown in his will published in Gillingham recently that he found the world a pleasant place full of "kind people."

Dr. Walker was the most popular doctor in Gillingham for thirty-two years. He left estate of the gross value of only £7,439.

In each of six bequests which he made to friends he tells that he found "Kindness, loyalty, devotion, sympathy."

He left £2,000 "for her great kindness shown to me" to the middle-aged clergyman's widow, Mrs. Dorothy Barrett, who was his house-keeper after his wife's death in 1933.

To his closest friend, a local chemist, Mr. Auberon Herbert, "for wonderful help and kindness," £250;

To a former maid-servant, Ethel Francis, £50 for "great kindness and devotion";

To Sister Frances Brown, who nursed his wife, £100 for "devotion, sympathy and kindness";

To his gardener Arthur Young "for devoted and skilful help," £50.

And even to his odd-job man, John Alger, £25 for "loyal and devoted service."

Mr. Auberon Herbert said recently: "He used to stop all night beside some of his farmhouse patients when they were ill."

"When the poorer ones could not pay their bills he would leave 10s. notes on the table. He subscribed to everything and anything in the town from the football club to the British Legion, whether he could afford it or not."

"In the war he was given the D.S.O. for fetching wounded from No Man's Land."

"Do you know why he found every one so kind?—because he was the kindest man any one ever met."

Tight Shoes—Indigestion

If you are attacked by indigestion don't automatically blame food.

It is probably being caused by your shoes.

Wearing the wrong type of shoe causes indigestion, headaches, and backaches, say a recent report of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research.

Test shoes were issued to a number of people in various occupations, and their effect on health studied.

The experiments are to be continued and results tabulated.

and he got all his kindness back from every one around him."

The Queen Christens Her Favourite Colours

QUEEN ELIZABETH has chosen and named her two favourite colours for spring; they will commemorate, too, her coming visit to Canada and the United States.

The first is REGINA, a clear Wedgwood blue—at its palest a delicate Dresden shepherdess sort of colour, at its deepest a glowing purple-blue. The other is MAYFLOWER, a pinkish blue shade, smart alone and lovely with Regia.

SHE has picked these colours for the British Colour Council; they issued the exact shades recently, and manufacturers have immediately started dyeing fabrics to match them.

You will be able to buy both shades, in silk and wool materials, shortly.

There will be three tones of each—light for accessories, medium for frocks, dark for costumes and coats. There will be shoes and gloves to match the deepest tones, and special stocking shades have been designed to go with both shades. The new stocking tones will have a mauish cast to link up with the "blue" tones of Regia and Mayflower.

The colour names are appropriate. Regia, besides being Latin for "Queen," is the name of a big Canadian town on the route of the royal tour.

"Mayflower" is a name which means a lot to Americans, and the colour is certainly reminiscent of the full-skirted blue gowns of the Pilgrims' wives.

MAHARAJAH MARRIED

The secret bride of the thirty-year-old Maharajah of Indore is Marguerite Lawler, an American. The Maharajah, whose first wife died in 1937, announced his marriage at a special durbar at Indore recently. He met his bride in California several years ago.

I'm Tired Of Being A Star

LESLIE Howard, "fed up with life as a movie star," has refused to take his part in "Intermezzo," his new Hollywood film, unless he is made associate producer.

So David Selznick recently signed him, on in that capacity.

Howard insisted that he must have a share in the responsibility for his own picture. He first did this in "Pygmalion."

"Hollywood simply will not think of me as anything but a star," he said, "I am determined to give up acting to direct or produce. This is the only way I can make a start. Stars don't make motion pictures. It's the men who use stars in the creation of vital screen plays who keep Hollywood on the map, while the stars pose and take bows."

SLEUTHS OF THE SEA

Detectives' Work on Luxury Liners

do not like the idea, and that is one of the reasons that the steamship companies keep very quiet about the arrangements they make to protect their passengers.

Your good sea-sleuth must be a man who can play a good game of cards, hold his liquor well, and be able to mix with all sorts and conditions of men and women. He must dress well but not too well, and have a knowledge of languages and of various races, their manners and social castes. He must know his ship as well as any officer, and be on good terms with the official police of the various ports at which the ship may touch.

This applies especially to pleasure cruisers, where inexperienced passengers often go ashore and lose money or valuables or get themselves mixed up in some trouble. Ship officers have enough work to do nowdays, and the middle-aged rescue passengers from harpies ashore, and while the sea-sleuth has no official status on land he can be very useful both to the company which pays him and to the shore police, let alone the passengers.

There are sharks on board ship as well as in the sea, and here your detective of the passenger service has his hardest work when he has to rescue some innocent from their jaws.

There are none so deaf as those who will not hear, and the beautiful young grass-widow from Memphis, Tennessee, or Cleveland, Ohio, thinks she knows all about this wicked world and will not take notice of quiet words of warning. Our own young people are more amenable to reason, but it is the middle-aged English business man who usually falls into the clutches of the sharks, or the clergyman who, after long years of toil in his parish, is treating himself to a pleasure trip.

The South Americans are another problem. Many of them will carry large rolls of bank notes, and their women are not careful of their jewellery. An Argentine millionaire cattle-breeder will gamble heavily at stud-poker and go to sleep with his winnings under his pillow. What a temptation to the astute "cut" thief or dishonest steward for our millionaire will have consumed

LUXURY liners and the popularity of pleasure cruises have provided sea-captains who are responsible for good order on board their ships with a serious problem.

The professional gambler has "played the liners" ever since the Atlantic became a highway; in fact, a skipper of my acquaintance swears that the original card-room expert went out with Christopher Columbus and that his descendants have been rooking travellers ever since.

But it is not the gambler who worries the captain so much nowadays. Most of the clever-fingered gentry are well known, but other crooks have discovered that big ships carry infinite possibilities of loot.

Hence your sea-sleuth and your confidence men and women who invade the luxury liners, not to mention black-mailers. To deal with these folk the steamship companies have had to employ special detectives who work with the aid of official police departments and with that of United States Customs agents, who travel to and fro on most of the big steamship routes in order to keep an eye on smugglers.

Must Not Look the Part

Your sea-sleuth must not look like a policeman or give the slightest hint he is a detective. That would annoy a number of the passengers, apart from the crooks. Often, the only man who knows his real identity on board ship is the purser. The captain knows that the detective is on board, but does not know the man (or woman) personally.

The work of sea sleuths is, not unlike that of insurance investigators. There must be no scandal and no prosecution if possible. Crimes on the high seas do not do the shipping companies any good. They make bad publicity.

The greatest difficulty the detective has is dealing with the silly women with money who are to be found nowhere in such numbers as on board the big liners and pleasure-cruisers. These good ladies, who are probably monuments of all the virtues in their home towns, go all crazy directly they set foot on board ship. They are almost defenceless prey for all sorts of adventurers and gophers who still abound in numbers in the Americas, both North and South. They land themselves in the most compromising situations, and the detective has to be extremely tactful and worldly-wise to steer them out of entangling positions. Even then they turn on him, in many cases, and even report him to the ship's officers for interfering with them.

Man of Many Talents

The man responsible for the ship's intelligence work may have two or three official titles among the crew. In certain cases he may plant men or women in his employ among the crew as stewards or stewardesses or even as deckhands. It is a big job to preserve law and order in a big ship which carries several hundred passengers, officers of all nations, not to mention a large crew. The reaction of passengers when they know that there is a detective on board is usually unfavourable. Most of them

South wins the first trick with the ace of spades, and follows with the queen of clubs, which East wins. East returns spade eight, which South covers with the jack. West wins with queen, North discarding a small club. West leads a small heart, on which North plays the queen. East wins with the ace, East puts South in the lead with a small diamond.

South leads a small spade which West wins with the four, North and East discarding. West leads heart five, which North covers with the ten. East plays the jack and South wins with the king.

South now runs off three spades on which North discards a heart, a diamond, and a club. South wins with diamond ace, and follows with Club deuce, and North wins two more tricks with the ace and king.

If at trick three, East leads a diamond, South himself will lead the jack of spades.

This was little more than an exercise in correct defence and the best method of defeating it. North should never be allowed to get in the lead except in clubs, and North-South should not be able to win more than one heart, a suit which should be led by West only. East's ace of clubs should be extirpated early. South's queen must be used for the purpose.

A Lay Sermon

IT is to be feared that not a few easy-chair Christians have made of these words a lullaby for their consciences. They have read into them something that isn't there, something which justifies inaction when, to them, it appears the easier course.

Whatever the passage may mean, it does not mean that God is still to sit still. He is speaking of ISRAEL, xxx. 7. He rebellious people, and warning them not to "add sin to sin" by turning to Egypt instead of to Him for help in the troubles occasioned by their rebellion.

Tiresome Telephone Talkers

DO you use or abuse the telephone? All the difference in the world lies between these two words. Telephone talkers are divided into two kinds—those who use the service when the need arises and those who regard it as an instrument for desultory conversation, or a vent for a bad temper.

There are a surprisingly large number of the latter, and the odd thing is that their offences arise because they will not realise that courtesy and thoughtfulness are as necessary in communicating on the wire as anywhere else.

The man who occupies a public "phone-box" for a quarter of an hour when others are waiting patiently to make urgent calls would be furious at the suggestion that he was behaving badly. So would the friend who makes a point of ringing up late at night when most people are ready for bed, and will not curtail his conversation despite the none-too-tactful reminders of the lateness of the hour.

Under this heading, too, comes the wife who rings up her husband at the office with unimportant domestic messages, and cannot be made to understand that the wire is being used all day for urgent calls and she is really blocking it.

As a some-time telephone operator, I have been amazed at the display of bad temper by subscribers either through being unable to obtain a number, by being cut off in the middle of a conversation, or by some other person cutting in on the line.

I believe it is because the speakers cannot see each other. A man will be much more abusive in his anger if he is in the dark, or shouting at someone in another room, than if he will face to face with the other person.

Presumably this difficulty will be surmounted if and when television replaces the use of the telephone, but if everyone were unselfish and polite in his use of the telephone, what a perfect service it would be!

News About Music

THE news that the Czech National Opera is not to visit London this season is a dismal disappointment. Such a visit would have been welcome at any time and it is to be hoped that it really is only postponed.

Heaven knows there is little enough chance to hear operas at Covent Garden outside the stock run of pieces put on to attract box-holders. And now Smetana's "Secret" and Dvorak's "Rusalka" are to be denied.

The Covent Garden authorities are certainly having a rough passage this year. Their difficulties, as regrettable as they are understandable, are by now common property and since that is the case it may be permitted that a potential member of their audience suggests a few works which would fill the gap left by the Czechs more interestingly than repeats of Puccini. Now that the principle has been established of admitting even a mere couple of not very new but unknown operas to the repertoire of the International Season, let us do all we can to support the venture.

I suggest we be presented some modern French operas. In the circumstances, time being desperately short, the obvious choice is Ravel's exquisite and extremely witty "L'Heure Espagnole." It would not be difficult to put on, for there is no chorus and if the five singers cannot be found in England (though I imagine immediately supply our needs. There is time enough to arrange this, especially in view of Covent Garden's propensity for getting foreign artists flown over to London at a moment's notice. The orchestral side of the business is provided for "L'Heure Espagnole" in a one-act opera. It therefore could form part of a double bill with, say, Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi."

But there are other one-act operas, and modern French at that, which would suitably partner the Ravel work and be diverting to hear. There are, for instance, the two short operas by Darius Milhaud, "Les Pauvres Matelots" and "Ester de Carpentras."

Then there is Honnegger's one-act "Judith" and the Napoleonic opera "L'Aiglon," which he wrote in collaboration with Jacques Hérold. This has lately been played in Paris and the material should be easily available for London.

Finally, seeing that Poland is much in our thoughts at present, why not put on the great Polish national opera, "Halka" by Moniuszko? Those who have seen it in Warsaw speak of it with interest. It appears to be for Poland what "Boris Godunov" is for Russia. And then there is Simone Mayr's "Leonora" produced in the same year as Beethoven's "Fidelio" and founded on the same libretto, but with the action placed in Poland instead of Spain.

A SERIES of scientific tests, conducted amongst a number of school children, has definitely proved the unrivalled value of 'Ovaltine' as a nerve-building beverage. Where 'Ovaltine' was given daily, nervousness diminished an average of 30% in 2 weeks. Nervous, frightened children gained poise and confidence, and grew sturdy and active.

'Ovaltine' is exceptionally rich in nerve-building food elements because 'now-laid' eggs are liberally used in its preparation. Eggs are the chief source of a vital nerve food called lecithin. No tonic food would be complete without eggs. 'Ovaltine' is a perfect food, complete in balanced nourishment that builds up body, brain and nerves.

Name Age
Address

Dear Kiddies,

Last week's "Maze" competition was really too easy, I think. As there were so many correct answers, I had to carefully decide on the winning entries, taking into consideration age and neatness of handwriting.

The prize-winners this week are:

Gisela Glipperich (aged 12), 178, The Peak.
Judith Hall (aged 10½), Ling Yan Tai, Shatin.

I. C. McNay (aged 8), c/o Naval Yard, Kowloon.

Coupons have been sent to Gisela, Judith and I. C. McNay which I want them to bring to the "Hongkong Telegraph" offices in Wyndham Street. The coupons will then be exchanged for money prizes.

Specially commended for good work are the following:

Seniors: Joseph Thomas Lai, C. E. Clark, W. Ribeiro, L. Becker, Albert Remedios, G. Jhamat, George Hassan, V. Idefonso, Bobby Stott, Carmen Tavares, Kun Yuet-hung, Betty O'Hoy, E. Xavier, H. R. Rocha, R. A. Rocha, Paul Vessouma, Dwight Edwins, Mary An, C. Ross, Derek Stokoe, Betty Becker, Wong Yung-ting, Alice Lee, W. Mak, Regina Xavier, M.

Leung, Beryl Wong, Franchot Fung, Gerald Soong, Kostia Daniloff, Susan Gehring.

Intermediates: Roberto de Sousa, Donald Marshall, Shirley Boyle, Rui Cunha, J. Silver, S. Helson, Mary Grimmit, Chan Fung-lune, Vera Rumlanseff, C. Bonhoff, Joan Daniel, Chandru Heera, K. Ghanumal, S. S. Bux, Sheila Helson.

Juniors: Anthony Cather, Gerry Pinna, P. Wong, Gerald Marshall, John White, David Asche, B. Phillips, Alex Sales, A. Rauf, Mary Wong, June Gordon, Frank Daniel, Sylvia Todd, George Elliott, Alec Pan.

This week, kiddies, we are having an interesting type of competition. Study the picture above and you will notice that the different sporting goods are called by the wrong name. For instance, the first one should be "Tennis Racket".

When you have discovered their correct names write them neatly in order, all in the name, age and address coupon and send to Uncle Eddie, c/o "Hongkong Telegraph", Wyndham Street. The competition closes at 2 p.m. on Wednesday.

Prizes will again be given, age and neatness of handwriting being taken into consideration.

Best wishes, kiddies.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Fascination of the Miniature Camera

The original negative of this picture is about the size of a postage stamp. It was snapped from the second row of a theatre on ultra-fast film with the lens at f2, the exposure 1/250 second at a moment of slight pause in the action.

THIS frequent appearance in magazines and newspapers of striking "off-guard" snapshots of prominent persons, such as society folk dining in a restaurant, or "serious shots" of the changing expressions of an after-dinner speaker, prompts from many readers the question, "How were these pictures taken?" The answer in the case of many of these pictures is the high-speed, large-lens miniature camera and the new ultra-fast film, which in combination often make possible snapshots at night without extra illumination of the subject.

The use of miniature cameras, not alone for "off-guard" photography but for daytime portrait studies and "scenes" of which they are also highly capable, has grown with startling speed. Films are available that are especially suited to this kind of work. These pocket-size but powerful, precision-built cameras seem to have for many the fascination of the high-powered automobile and are bought despite their higher cost, because "you can go places with them."

Just what is a high-speed miniature camera? Essentially it is a very small roll-film camera with a very large aperture lens such as one rated at f2. The exposure required with an f2 lens is only 1/90th of that needed for the f5.6 lens which is considered a "fast" lens on the ordinary amateur camera.

Without going into the technical reasons, it is possible to use a much larger and consequently much faster lens on a miniature camera than would be practicable on the average size camera. The small size, the ultra-fast film combined with new extra-fast film, make it possible to snap pictures under conditions which are difficult for larger cameras with slower lenses.

You can carry a "miniature" around in your pocket and whip it out for any occasion. With good judgment for correct exposure you can make snapshots on the stage of a theatre, in a night club, at a prize fight or at night on a brightly illuminated street.

Miniature camera negatives must, of course, be enlarged to obtain prints satisfactory to look at. Some miniature cameras use 35-mm. motion picture size film and give up to 26 pictures to the roll; others use somewhat larger sizes, 8 or 16 pictures to a roll. Owing to the relatively low cost of the small-sized film, the expense per picture for average-size enlargements is not much greater than a contact print from the larger film used in a camera of ordinary size.

The technique of taking pictures with a miniature is not much different from that with the ordinary focusing camera, but there is a valuable point to remember. Because of its light weight and small size, it is more difficult to hold a miniature camera steady. Since sharp negatives are essential in this work, steadiness is of prime importance.

BOOK REVIEWS:

How Britain is governed

FIRST-CLASS books on practical politics, as people who like reading them know, are a very scarce commodity. To the small store of them, add these two.

Michael Stewart's The British Approach to Politics (Allen and Unwin, 7s. 6d.) contains the best description yet read of the British democratic system as a piece of practical machinery. It explains very simply how the system works and fits together in Parliament, in local government, in Imperial government, and as part of the British Commonwealth.

There are two things about his book, apart from its accuracy and fairness, which most readers will like. It embodies a good deal of personal experience as a young politician, and it is written with a moving warmth of affection for democracy as a result of that experience.

The second book is Dr. William Robson's The Government and Misgovernment of London (Allen and Unwin, 15s.). This is a full-length full-dress onslaught on the heart-breaking administrative muddle of Greater London, which has prevented the growth of a beautiful and orderly city one-tenth worthy of its immense concentration of people and wealth.

political and economic power, intelligence and culture.

As a city, London gets poor marks, and Dr. Robson puts his finger on the reason why when he says that the disintegration of power among 120 separate authorities has resulted in the entire absence of any plan to guide its development.

He proposes the creation of a Regional Council for the London Area, which would administer the services in which the whole of London is interested.

It is a confirmation of the wisdom of that judgment that, working from his personal experience, at County Hall, Mr. Herbert Morrison was led to formulate the same conclusion in his book, How Greater London is Governed.

Not To Drive For 20 Years

A LORRY DRIVER who said he was subject to attacks of "blankness" was fined £10 and disqualified for 20 years at Nottingham recently.

He was Jack Bygrave, of Eastwood, Nottinghamshire, and he was summoned for dangerous driving as the result of a fatal accident.

The prosecution alleged that Bygrave continued for 232 yards after his lorry had struck a cyclist, who died the same night.

He deposited the cycle, which had been carried between the front wheels, in a house. He did not go back to pick up the cyclist.

Bygrave was stated to have declared that "everything went black" as he rounded the corner, and in the witness-box he said he could remember nothing of the accident.

He said he had suffered from attacks of blankness for years, but had not disclosed the fact in his applications for a driving licence.

A doctor said he had known Bygrave to have such an attack.

TERRIBLE HAVOC BY RAIDERS

Chungking Being Evacuated

Shanghai, May 5. Admitting the possibility that bombs might have been dropped on Chungking during Thursday's Japanese raid on Chungking, a spokesman of the Japanese Navy today invoked the right of self-defence.

The spokesman pointed out that Chinese batteries consisting of anti-aircraft guns and large-calibre machine-guns located near the British, French and German Consulates opened an intense fire against Japanese planes, forcing one portion of the raiders to change their objective and swoop down upon the anti-aircraft batteries.

He further indicated that it was a generally accepted fact that during the night, land and naval bombardment, certain scattering of shots were unavoidable.

"If consulates were hit, this is 'regrettable but inescapable,' the spokesman said. He revealed that instructions were given Japanese fliers to avoid unnecessary damage to third-party property, adding that it would be impossible to ask Japanese fliers operating at the risk of their lives to remain impassive when attacked because of the attack coming from areas where third-party property abounded.

Concluding, the spokesman denied that Japanese bombers were using incendiary bombs.—Domel.

Third Day's Attack

Shanghai, May 5. For the third consecutive day, Japanese military and political organs in the capital which had been greatly damaged during the attacks in the past two days, were again bombed by the Japanese raiders today.

No official communique regarding today's raid on Chungking was available this afternoon. Local Chinese newspapers also failed to carry reports of the attack, presumably the communication with the Szechwen city having been interrupted as the result of Thursday's Japanese bombardment.—Domel.

City Being Evacuated

Chungking, May 5. As the fires caused by yesterday's raid consumed whole blocks of closely packed and flimsily built structures, 200,000 residents of Chungking evacuated during the night, leaving behind them ruin and desolation.

The city, teeming with life a few days ago, now presents a tragic, dismal and deserted picture. The water, electricity and telephone services are disorganised. The only newspapers appearing this morning were two small extra editions.

Mr. Ho Shu-yuan, manager of the head office of the Central News Agency, was seriously injured when the offices were demolished last night. Mr. Yau-chin, manager of the business department, was also seriously injured and is not expected to recover. Mr. Hsiao Tung-tze, director, and Mr. Chen Po-sen, chief editor, who was formerly the Agency's Tokyo correspondent, were both in the building when it was demolished, but they extricated themselves unhurt from the debris, covered with plaster and dust.

General and Madame Chiang Kai-shek inspected the devastated areas last night and this morning. After last night's tour the Generalissimo gave orders to commandeer all motor cars and trucks, both public and private, for transporting refugees to the countryside. All cars were concentrated at a designated point at 11 a.m. today. Madame Chiang Kai-shek supervised the evacuation of war orphans. The evacuation of women and children continued today and will go on until the process is completed. Relief workers were busy today distributing food and water and arranging shelter for the refugees along the route. General Chiang last night instructed all newspapers in Chungking to cease publication, concentrating their resources on publishing a joint single newspaper.

Masses of Evacuees

A tour of the areas ravaged by bombing was made by Reuter last night. Many streets were almost impassable, so crowded were they with refugees, stretcher bearers, fire fighters and civilian air raid volunteers.

The German Embassy had a lucky escape at destruction as it was caught between two parallel lanes of fires where bombs had been laid. The Embassy was not touched, but it was impossible to pass through the street. The story of how more than 100 women and children were burnt to death within sight was told by officials of the German Embassy.

The steadily advancing flames had driven these women and children to the base of the 30-foot high city wall, which forms the outer wall of the German Embassy.

The women and children screamed with terror as the flames approached nearer the city wall, which they could not scale. They were enveloped in a raging inferno, all dying. The fire on the Shao-lang-tze, main street of Chungking, which was started last night, was still raging late this afternoon, threatening the offices of the Central Daily News, the official mouthpiece of the Government.

Firemen were greatly handicapped in fighting the fires, owing to inter-

Currency Problem

BRITISH ACTION IN TIENTSIN

Tientsin, May 5. While the Chinese authorities in North China are seeking means to remedy the situation arising from the depreciation of the Federal Reserve Bank notes, the authorities in the British Concession took action today to check the fall in value of its own revenue by the slump of the Japanese fostered currency.

They decided to mark all debit notes from today "subject to 30 per cent. surcharge." Similar action has been taken by the telephone administration.

The British authorities describe their action as a "temporary measure subject to periodic revision."

The Chinese authorities are very concerned over the depreciation of the Federal Reserve Bank notes. They are holding informal talks with Chinese and foreign bankers with a view to devising means to curb speculation in Federal Reserve Bank notes, which is regarded as one of the main reasons for the slump.

Among the measures suggested are extension of the list of goods subject to export control, increase of the Federal Reserve Bank exchange fund, so as to make it available for a wider circulation, manipulation of the Federal Reserve Bank notes in the exchange market, and free re-issuance of Federal Reserve Bank notes to Shanghai through the Hwa Ihsin Bank at par.—Reuter.

Another Protest By Japanese

Shanghai, May 5. Mr. Yoshitaki Miura, the Japanese Consul-General, called on M. M. Baudez, the French Consul-General, and Mr. C. S. Franklin, Chairman of the Shanghai Municipal Council, this afternoon and demanded complete prohibition of the flying of Chinese Nationalist flags which were prominently displayed today on the occasion of the anniversary of Sun Yat-sen's assumption of the post of provisional president of the Chinese Republic at Canton in 1912.

Consul-General Miura informed Mr. Franklin and Mr. Baudez that the permission granted by the Settlement and Concession for flying of the Nationalist flags on eight Chinese national holidays was unacceptable.

The Japanese Consul pointed out that the permission to fly the Chinese Nationalist flag would be tantamount to recognition by the Settlement and Concession of the authority of the Chungking regime.—Domel.

ruption of the water supply, and also due to the fact that the fires spread so rapidly and extensively in widely scattered areas.

It is reported that the British diplomatic mission and the British Consulate are considering moving their offices to the south bank of the Yangtze River, opposite Chungking, owing to the damaged state of the present Consulate buildings, but no official confirmation is yet available.—Reuter.

The eagerly awaited speech to the Polish Parliament by Colonel Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, was delivered yesterday, giving a clear reply to the German proposals and actions as indicated in Herr Hitler's speech last week.

The speech indicated that Poland intends to stand by her rights, but at the same time is prepared to enter into negotiations with Germany provided the latter is prepared to enter discussions with the object of finding a peaceful solution.

The statement was short, and indicated a clear-sighted and moderate attitude towards the questions of Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

The suggestion in France that she cannot be expected to support Poland in her "exaggerated claims" with regard to Danzig and the Corridor are flatly denied in Paris. The first reactions from England and Paris indicate that the speech by Beck is considered fair and moderate. Herr Hitler is reported to be discussing the speech with his ministers, while indications are that Italy may try to fill the role of mediator.

Warsaw, May 5. Colonel Beck replied to Herr Hitler in the Chamber this morning in a speech the whole world was waiting to hear.

He declared that the results of weakening collective international institutions had in recent months reached the borders of Poland. "Very serious events have taken place," he said. "I refer in the first place to Poland's agreement with Britain. Neither Britain nor Poland has any aggressive intentions, but they are determined to defend certain basic principles of international life."

The Minister continued that Herr Hitler had used the agreement to denounce the Polish-German non-aggression pact. The Reich decided to denounce the pact without consulting either Britain or Poland. Although he had visited him (Colonel Beck) when he returned from London, the Ambassador did not avail himself of this offer until today. If the Reich interprets the Polish-German pact as one meant to isolate Poland, Poland would always reject this interpretation.

"As regards Danzig, the population is predominantly German, but its livelihood and prosperity depend on Poland," he said. "We cannot on the ground of our rights of overseas trade and maritime policy in Danzig."

Question of Corridor

"As to the corridor, we suggested an extension of the present facilities to road transport, but we have no grounds for restricting our sovereignty over our own territory."

"The proposal mentioned by Herr Hitler in his speech for a 25-year non-aggression pact was not put forward in any definite form beforehand."

"Hitler's proposal to recognise as a concession the existing Polish-German frontier would have been recognition of Poland's indisputable property. Two conditions are necessary for peace to have any meaning. Firstly, peaceful intentions, and secondly, peaceful methods of action. If the Reich is guided by these principles, all conversations respecting the matter I have outlined are possible. If such conversations materialise, Poland would not refuse her very good will. We intend, and do not leave the conception of peace at any price. One thing without price is honour."

Colonel Beck said that he would like to encourage public opinion to know that he found in London a party of British statesmen with not only a profound knowledge of general political problems in Europe but also such an attitude towards Poland as permitted him to discuss all vital problems with frankness and confidence and without any reservation or doubt.

The Polish reply to the German memorandum, he announced, will be handed to Germany today.

Status of Danzig

In his references to Danzig, Colonel Beck explained that the Free City was not invented by the Versailles Treaty. German merchants in Danzig assured the development and prosperity of that town, thanks to Polish overseas trade. Over and above this the development was the very reason for the city's prosperity due to the then decisive fact that it is situated at the mouth of Poland's only great river, and now to its position as the main waterway and railway line connecting Poland with the Baltic. This is a truth which no new formula can change.

Colonel Beck stressed that Poland purposely never endeavoured to exert any influence on free national, ideological and cultural development of the German majority in the Free City. "We ask whether the questions present to-day were the freedom of the German population in Danzig—which was not menaced—or that of prestige, or that of barring Poland from the Baltic, but Poland will not let herself be barred," he declared.—Reuter.

"One Sided Demands"

Poland has formally denounced Hitler's one-sided demands for the return of Danzig to the Reich and a German highway across the Polish corridor, but offered to negotiate for an honourable settlement.

Colonel Beck's brief and dramatic address was generally conciliatory. He made it clear that Poland, with more than 1,000,000 under arms, was determined not to bow to force or threat of force. In effect, he left the way open for a peaceful solution of the dispute, but put the next move up to Hitler.

The diplomatic boxes in the Chamber were filled with the Ambassadors of the United States, Britain, France, Turkey, Rumania, and the Ministers of Iran, Estonia, Portugal, Greece, Yugo-Slavia and others, but the German and Italian diplomats were absent.

The Parliament building began to fill an hour before the scheduled time for the speech, in what was the Polish Sejm's greatest day in its 21 years of existence. The actual Parliament Chamber had been enlarged to accommodate more than double the usual number of spectators, while the diplomatic boxes had also been enlarged.

There was no particular indication of excitement in Warsaw's streets, although coffee houses and several shops installed loudspeakers where they announced Colonel Beck's speech could be heard.—United Press.

Regard Objectively

Warsaw, May 5. The Speaker, M. Makowski, opened the Sejm and very briefly introduced Colonel Beck, who was given a long ovation.

Colonel Beck said, "If conversations materialise the Polish Government, according to its custom, will regard the problem objectively, with a view to the experiences of recent times, but without refusing its best will."

Colonel Beck said that Poland would stand firmly on her rights and interests in her overseas trade and maritime policy.

He said that the German Government had decided to denounce the German-Polish Pact on the ground of the Polish-British Agreement, without consulting either the Polish or British Governments.—United Press.

For Special Applause

Warsaw, May 5. Colonel Beck's statement was repeatedly interrupted by loud applause directed against Germany and others which contained compliments for Britain were received with prolonged cheers by the House.

The Polish-German pact, said Colonel Beck, has represented an attempt to improve the historic relations between the two great nations. In the most critical moments of recent times the Polish Government had consistently respected the fundamental principle underlying the pact and, seen from this viewpoint, the denunciation of the pact was an event of no small importance. If, however, the policy and action of the other partner has deviated from the principle in question, Poland has no reason to regret the disappearance of the pact.

Colonel Beck continued, "From the moment when tendencies manifested themselves to interpret the pact as restricting the liberty of our policy or to utilise it as justification for demanding from us one-sided concessions incompatible with our vital interests, from that moment the pact lost its true character."—Trans-Ocean.

HITLER IN CONFERENCE OVER BECK'S SPEECH

Berlin, May 5. Hitler will hold a conference at Berchtesgaden today with Herr von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, and leaders of the Nazi Party in Danzig, Herr Goelzer and Herr Foerster, to discuss Colonel Beck's speech.

German newspapers continue to publish alleged Polish attacks on Germans in Poland.

Herr Goelzer, the new-paperer Von Kieckhefer, asks where is Poland going? He said that had it not been for the British guarantee, Poland would not have rejected the German proposals.—Reuter Bulletin.

ITALY MAY AGAIN FIGURE AS MEDIATOR

Rome, May 5. It is understood from a reliable source that Count Ciano had a conference with M. Dugoszowski, on the present Polish-German situation, reportedly with a view to reaching a friendly solution of the Danzig problem and advising Poland to adopt moderation in dealing with Germany.—United Press.

Press Comment Friendly

Rome, May 5. A brief editorial in the Giornale d'Italia warns Poland not to exaggerate its political tendencies by opposing the German demands, and by taking a political stand which "will render impossible or very slow and uncertain conciliation with the Reich."

The editorial, which is friendly in tone towards Poland, urges the Poles to remember that it was only through Mussolini's "personal intervention" that Poland resolved the old Teschen problem, without firing a single shot, and succeeded in obtaining a common frontier with Hungary.

The editorial adds that Germany "adhered in a friendly manner to the Italian action for a common frontier for Poland. Italy now gives Poland this advice."—United Press.

Toscanini Declines To Meet King

London, May 4. Maestro Arturo Toscanini, famous conductor, this evening declined the honour of being presented to the King and Queen.

During the intermission of the concert, the King invited the Conductor to the Royal Box, but Toscanini said that his pre-occupation in the midst of the concert might upset him.

The King said that he sympathised with the Maestro's feelings.—United Press.

Naval Escort For Their Majesties To Canada

London, May 5. When the King and Queen sail for Canada to-morrow in the Empress of Australia, the liner will be met outside Portsmouth Harbour by Royal Air Force machines which will escort her down the Channel.

A naval escort of 17 vessels will also be in attendance, including the battle cruiser Repulse, the battle-ships Nelson and Rodney, and two cruisers, the Southampton and Glasgow. These two cruisers will accompany the liner across the Atlantic. A farewell dinner to the King and Queen was given last night by the United States Ambassador and Mrs. Kennedy.—British Wireless.

Last Day at Home

London May 5. To-day is the last full day their Majesties are spending at home before leaving to-morrow for their tour of Canada. It was a busy day for them. In the morning, the King held a Privy Council, and later Mr. Neville Chamberlain held a farewell audience with His Majesty.

The afternoon and evening are being kept free from all official engagements so that the King and Queen may have time to see members of the family and bid them farewell.—Reuter Bulletin.

HAMMERING AT NIGHT

European Brings Charge Against Neighbour

On the complaint of Mr. W. C. Curtis, of 13, Wong Chuk Street, Leung Yuen-jau, of 11, Wong Chuk Street, was summoned before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday for having permitted noise to be made on his premises on the night of April 20.

Mr. Curtis said that just before midnight he was awakened by the sound of hammering in defendant's premises. The premises were fully lighted and men were evidently just beginning work.—The noise stopped and he went back to sleep, only to be re-awakened later by a resumption of the hammering.

Leung was fined $10.

official announcement is yet available, though it is known that the impression left is most favourable.

It is felt in diplomatic quarters that the speech is distinguished by moderation and firmness. These quarters are waiting to see what the German reaction will be. The fact that two Danzig leaders, including Herr Goelzer, the man who "cooked a snook" at the League Council, is at present at Berchtesgaden rather suggests that Germany's response will not be delayed. Their presence is held in some quarters to have a very special significance, if the analogy of Czecho-Slovakia is recalled.

Colonel Beck's remarks on the unilateral denunciation of the Polish-German non-aggression pact will doubtless go for food for thought in those states to whom Germany is now offering similar agreement. It is pointed out in diplomatic circles.—Reuter.

FRENCH STAND

Paris, May 5. M. Daladier's declaration regarding France's determination to remain loyal to her pledge to Poland is featured in this morning's papers, although the comments differ in tone.

Political circles believed the Premier to have been inspired by an article by the Socialist Republican Union Deputy, M. Marcel, which appeared yesterday in L'Oeuvre, the Deputy maintaining that Frenchmen would not fight for the exaggerated Polish claims to Danzig and East Prussia.

According to the L'Epoque this morning, the Polish Ambassador, M. Lukiewicz, made representations to the Foreign Minister, M. Georges Bonnet, yesterday regarding the article and was assured that it did not reflect the attitude of the French Government which would remain loyal to its obligations.

M. Bonnet is also said to have emphasised to the Polish Ambassador that France would automatically move to support Poland as soon as she felt that her vital interests are threatened, a definition of her vital interests as regards Danzig being left up to Poland.

The Polish Ambassador was satisfied, according to the paper, with this declaration.—Trans-Ocean.

"Certainly, my dear fellow, but may I ask you why? You haven't got engaged, I hope?"

"No, no. This is something really important. I did the fourteenth in one yesterday. A blow in a million! The swipe to end all swipes!"

"But I don't understand. You look as fit as the proverbial Stradivarius. Were there no celebrations?"

"Celebrations? There's been nothing like it since the Relief of Mafeking."

"Perhaps I'm dense, but I still don't understand. Forgive my bluntness, but where's the hangover?"

"Hangovers? Haven't you heard? There aren't any nowadays. You just drink Gimlets, or take a long glass of Rose's Lime Juice after the jamboree. It's just a question of therapeutic action as a doctor once described it to me."

"So Rose's prevents the morning-after?"

"Really and truly. You know, old boy, you ought to keep a bottle of Rose's in your locker. Some day even you may do a hole in one!"

PLANNING A WEDDING

HEADRESS is made of a little circle of orange blossom sewn on to a round cap of either tulle or the lace of the dress. The tulle veil springs out from under the orange blossom.

WEDDING DRESS For a spring or summer bride lace is the ideal material—decorative, becoming—and it will make a lovely evening frock afterwards. Leave the lace to make its own effect, and have the dress cut as simply as possible. The one drawn here is made with a small turnover collar on a V-neck, a rather deep-waisted bodice—close-fitting and quite plain. The skirt is pleated on to the bodice (with a point in the centre) and held out to a full graceful line by an underskirt of stiff white taffeta. Sleeves are long and tight, set well in on the shoulders. Deep crimson roses would make a beautiful bouquet for this dress.

WHETHER personal friends or not, the clergyman and wife are always invited to the reception.

When every one has arrived, champagne is opened and the bride cuts the cake.

The best man proposes their health, the bridegroom replies.

—and about presents

BRIDES should be businesslike about their wedding presents.

Make a list of what you need, from small kitchen things to motor-cars, and give copies to both sets of parents, to the bridesmaids, and to the best man. These are the people of whom advice is asked. Keep it up to date by ticking off items as they are given.

Don't put on the list anything that you have very strong views about.

Make another list of presents received, and thank immediately. Don't write three days later saying, "I'd have written before only I've had such hundreds of people to thank."

Cheques require two letters: Thanks by return, and later thanks for the "lovely carpet I bought."

Be sure to note down on your list what you buy (or said you bought) with cheque money. For the present display, write out a card saying "MR. and MRS. BLOGG: Cheque." But not how much.

The present list must not be thrown away when all is over. You need it for remembering what things to have tactfully placed when their donors come to see you.

GETTING married without bride to change into "going away" fuss needs planning. Here are some details that puzzle a lot of people; they should be settled well ahead.

Weddings must be between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Smart weddings are generally about 2.30.

The bride's parents pay for: Flowers in the church; awning at church and house; organist and choir; cars for bride and bridesmaids to church and for bridesmaids from church; and everything connected with the reception.

The bridegroom pays for: Marriage licence; church fees—usually clergyman 1 gu., clerk 5s.; bride's and bridesmaids' bouquets; car for himself and bride from church to reception; presents for bridesmaids and pages—and the ring.

THE best man ought to be a bachelor. His main duty is to accompany the bridegroom to church. He has to see the bridegroom has the ring, pay the church fees on his behalf, do any tipping, and look after the railway tickets and passports. The bridesmaids pay for their own down the aisle on husband's left dresses. Chief bridesmaid helps arm. Her veil is flung back.

The ushers are young men who show the guests to their pews—bride's friends on left, bridegroom's on right, relations in front. One of the ushers receives the bridegroom's hat as he enters church, and hands it back as he goes out.

THE bridegroom arrives 10 minutes before "time" with best man, sits in front pew; bride's friends on left, bridegroom's on right, relations in front. One of the ushers receives the bridegroom's hat as he enters church, and hands it back as he goes out.

Bridesmaids make a procession behind her.

The bride hands her bouquet and gloves to chief bridesmaid when the ceremony starts.

When bride and groom move up to the altar, the bridesmaids stay where they are. When they go into the church, the bridesmaids follow. After signing the register, the bride walks down the aisle on husband's left dresses. Chief bridesmaid helps arm. Her veil is flung back.

FRIENDS MARVEL AT HER FIGURE

Since She Lost 45 lbs. Of Unwanted Fat

Less than a year ago this woman weighed 12 stone 10 lbs. But she found a way to get rid of her ugly fat, yes—45 lbs. of it—and get back her girlish vigour. Here is her letter:—

"After giving Kruschen Salts a very good trial, I take this opportunity to tell you the way in which it has restored to me the good health I used to enjoy as a girl. For many years I was a victim of rheumatism, resulting in a lot of expense for various treatments. I also put on weight. Less than 12 months ago I was 12 stone 10 lbs. Now I am down to 9 stone 7 lbs., and all my friends marvel at my figure. They say, 'You must have that Kruschen feeling,' and I reply 'That is just what I have got, for I have taken Kruschen in real earnest and now I would not be without it.'—(Mrs.) E.M.G.

Kruschen is a saline—not a drug; it is an ideal blend of mineral salts found in the apertures of those European Spas which have been resorted to from time immemorial for the relief of various ailments including obesity.

Britain Mobilising War Reserve Of Pigeons

500,000 WINGED COURIERS

BRITAIN'S carrier pigeons are to be mobilised as a war reserve, and for this purpose the Air Ministry are compiling a national register of pigeon breeders and fanciers.

This register will be the basis on which the National Pigeon Service will be formed. Members will have a special badge.

An announcement will be made by the Ministry when Treasury approval has been given to the scheme, calling on breeders and owners to volunteer their services and those of their birds.

It is estimated that about 500,000 pigeons will be made available—more than sufficient for the Government's needs.

They will be used for emergency communication purposes by the Navy, the Army and the R.A.F.

CRISIS OFFER

During the September crisis, thousands of breeders and fanciers offered assistance to the Government, and the Air Ministry began a national register. A detailed scheme has now been worked out.

Since the war the R.A.F. have maintained a small pigeon service, with two flocks in Britain for training and breeding and two more abroad.

Last summer, during the North-West Frontier campaign in India, a detachment of Waziristan Scouts was trapped by native forces.

A pigeon sent off with an S.O.S. brought R.A.F. aeroplanes to the rescue.

THREE GROUPS

The pigeon-breeders who volunteer for the service will be divided into three groups—those prepared to serve themselves in war, those who will breed birds in wartime, and

"Ladies into whose houses he had broken had commented upon the politeness with which he behaved."

James Horn, aged 37, a machinist, who was charged with Cox and sentenced to three years, was said actually to have kissed the hand of an elderly woman who was in bed.

It was stated that in 1936 Cox was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude for shooting a policeman and attempting to shoot another.

Horn had served terms of penal servitude.

those who will lend pigeons in peacetime as well as in an emergency.

Under the scheme, the breeding of pigeons will be stimulated by the Ministry to keep up the strength. The average life of a pigeon is about six years. Training begins at four months.

Pigeons can fly distances non-stop up to 800 miles at 30 to 40 m.p.h.

John Henry Lewis Cannot Fight Len Harvey In England

London, May 5. A sensation has been caused here by the British Boxing Board of Control's refusal to sanction the title fight arranged between John Henry Lewis, the negro lightweight champion of the world, and Len Harvey, the British champion.

The British Boxing Board arrived at this decision following a two-hour examination by a specialist of Lewis's left eye, which American reports said was faulty.

Mr. Johnny Rogers, who is temporarily acting for Lewis, told Reuters that the Board's decision is a terrible shock.

In response to a request for details of the decision, the Board only reiterated its refusal to grant permission.

The Board further announced that Lewis was not permitted to box in Great Britain under their auspices.

United Press confirms that the British Boxing Board of Control does not allow the fight because of Lewis's defective vision in one eye. The title bout was originally scheduled for June.

U.S. CONSUL TO TOSS THE FIRST BALL OF SEASON

Club De Recreio Meet Brewery In The Opener

(By "Binglo")

Caroline Hill will resound to the reverberations of a grandstand filled with stentorian partisans to-day at 2.30 p.m., when Club de Recreio clashes with Union Brewery in the opening game of the Baseball League season. Mr. Addison E. Southard, Consul General of the United States of America, will toss the first ball, as he did last year.

Admission into the stand will be fifty cents for adults, and twenty cents for children. However, those with membership tickets may see every League game of the season.

The Brewers did not make much of a showing last Sunday when they nosed out the Mindanao squad, 6 to 5, but Captain Dave Leonard will strengthen his forces for to-day's important tussle. The Beermen need a pitcher—badly!

Although the Rambling Rees will be without the services of shortstop A. V. Gossano and infielder Nick Beltrano, who are at present in Manila representing Hongkong in the realm of soccer, they still have enough letter-men from last season to make a good showing.

PREDICTION DIFFICULT

It would be difficult to predict the winner, this being the first game of the campaign when soup bones are somewhat rusty and batting eyes aren't what they might be later on. Union Brewers have been given the edge by almost all the dopesters. But, I reckon the Portuguese lads are no slouches, either; they made a splendid showing last season, and they have played together as a team these past three years.

Johnny Alvarez, Spotty Pereira and Charlie Figueroa are the Beermen's battery; while the Brewers must rely on hurlers Madsen Arculli, he with the fancy wind-up; Lefty Joe "Louis" Bowen; and versatile Dave Leonard and Hal Wingo. The Reelmen have discovered a pitcher in Paul Botelho who, although a rookie, is reputed to be the possessor of a speedball.

On the strength of these batteries, I give the edge to the Rambling Rees, who came through with flying colours in the recent softball campaign.

TO-MORROW'S GAME

To-morrow's double header begins when the Chinese Baseball Club tangles with U.S.S. Mindanao in the curtain raiser at 10 a.m.

Six of the Chang Hwa lads have left these parts: Mentor Abe Liu is now in Honolulu; catcher Bill Lo, in school at Yunnanfu; shortstop Bobby Jan is a frosh at the University of California at Berkeley, California; second baseman Tuffy Chinn is slinging hush at Rhode Island; outfielder Bill Kwong is somewhere in the States; and outfielder Sammy Wong is at school in Honolulu.

New members of the Club are Bill Woo, of Montreal, Canada, who will be seen in action at the initial sack; Denham Cray, shortstop of the Midgits, will play his first game of baseball at the hot corner; and Ray Chang, flashy second sacker of the Midgits, at rightfield. There is a possibility that Wilbur Woo, brilliant first baseman of the victorious Pui Ching Academy nine, will also turn out.

Ruel, dippydo artist on the Mindanao, will hold forth on the slab for the sailors, with two backstops available: Chase and Thomas. The probable line-up of the tars will be: Ruel, p; Thomas and Chase, c; Douglas, 1b; Cavanaugh or Chase, 2b; McCormick, 3b; Dew and Horton, ss; Wingley, lf; Wilson, cf; Terry, rf; and Todd, utility.

The battery of Earl Wong or Wally Ching and Nip Lum should hold the sailors. Earl has had two seasons under fire on the hillcock, and has increased his weight by twenty pounds since last year, and should be a real menace with his uncanny control.

HONGKONG V. S.C.A.A.

Hongkong Baseballers cross bats with South China Athletic Association in the nightcap at 11.30 a.m. Although I understand that the latter are not yet ready to play, there'll be a game out there, anyway.

The South China squad comprise the Overseas Chinese organisation of last season, who played a couple of charity games with an All-Hongkong team and the Chinese Baseballers. They will be led by veteran C. C. Lee, whose hurling some ten years ago gained him fame in the Class A League back home.

Hongkong Baseballers have only a scratch team at present, but should get going before very long. Phil Delaney, of Pan American Airways, who distinguished himself on the mound in scholastic competition, is turning out, and new and young blood will be injected into this gang of granddads with the inclusion of a few newcomers from the States. This will be anybody's game!

Lawn Bowls League Begins In Earnest This Afternoon

Full Programme Of Games In All Three Divisions

(By "Abe")

At long last the weather looks promising enough, at the time of writing, to encourage the hope that the Lawn Bowls League will be able to start in earnest this afternoon. For three weeks in succession rain has prevented lawn bowlers from enjoying their usual Saturday afternoon matches, but it is almost certain now that a full programme will be played to-day.

Some interesting matches are down for decision. The Club de Recreio "A" last year's champions, visit the Police R.C. and should start their programme with a victory. They would appear to be a better-balanced team than the guardians of the law, but the advantage of home green may enable the Police to be quite close at the finish.

The Craigengower C.C. go to Kowloon Docks for their game to-day. The Dock rinks have been changed quite a bit this season, and one hesitates to give an opinion of their prospects. They will have to play better than usual, however, if they are to beat the Happy Valley club this afternoon.

Recreio "B" are at home to the Kowloon C.C., runners-up last season. Though the Portuguese do not look too formidable on paper, they may do quite well against the K.C.C., who are not as strong as they were last season.

Though they have more or less the same team as they did last year, the Indians cannot look forward to their encounter with the Kowloon B.C.C. on the latter's ground without some trepidation. Never a really good side while away from their home green, the Indians will probably find the Kowloon B.C.C. a bit too much, especially as this is their first match. The programme of matches is:

REHEARSAL FOR DAVIS CUP MATCH

Coombe And Malfroy Beat Hare, Wilde

London, May 5.

The men's doubles semi-final in the Bournemouth hardcourt tennis championships to-day was a probable rehearsal for next week's Davis Cup doubles between Great Britain and New Zealand.

To-day New Zealand triumphed, Coombe and Malfroy beating Charles Hare and P. H. D. Wilde by 6-4, 6-2. In the women's semi-final doubles, Miss Brown and Miss Rita Jarvis beat the holders, Miss Dearman and Miss Ingram, by 6-3, 9-7.

In the semi-finals of the women's singles, Mrs. Ellis (formerly Senorita Anita Lizana) beat Miss Margot Lumb by 6-3, 8-6, while Miss Kathleen Stammers beat Miss Margaret Scriven 7-5, 6-0.—Reuters.

Northants Defeat The Light Blues

London, May 5. Northants, defeated Cambridge University at cricket by 78 runs in the match which concluded to-day.

Northants scored 381 (Brookes 114) and 215 for three wickets declared (Timms 103 not out), while the Light Blues made 254 (Merritt seven for 69) and 244 (Merritt five for 92).—Reuters.

SERVICES FANCIED TO BEAT CIVILIANS

Annual Hockey Match Arranged For King's Park To-morrow

(By "The Pilgrim")

There should be a good game at King's Park to-morrow between the Services and the Civilians, and if the weather is really kind there will be quite a good crowd to witness this annual hockey struggle for the honours of the year.

This match, year after year, has always proved to be something different from other games. Both teams are at present on equal terms, having each won and drawn a game.

Unquestionably the Services' team is powerful for and aft. The inclusion of Lt. Pritam Nath in the centre, E. R. A. Gemmel in his correct position at inside right, and Nerrain Singh at inside left adds striking and shooting power to the Services' attack. And behind them are three lively tackling halves in Dilnot, Lt. Hook and Lt. Firth.

Look at these six players which way you may and you cannot but admit that they look sufficiently formidable to beat the Civilians.

But paper theory is one thing and practical demonstration is another. I consider that the Civilians and Services' backs about equal in ability, with a slight preference for the latter pair. Osman, the goalkeeper, we know to be a maverick when he has his back to the wall, and U. B. Souza, the Civilians custodian, is equal to him in many respects.

IMPORTANCE OF HALVES

When we consider the respective halves, one is also greatly impressed with the skill of the Civilians trio. R. J. Reed, W. A. Reed and N. Whitley. It is a truism to say that the attack depends greatly on the work of the halves. If the latter play badly, forwards, even the best of them, cannot pull out their highest skill. They are mainly dependent on the halves for support, and have to receive the right passes and given the correct openings in order to get goals.

Though the Services' attack seems to have greater power, more "fire" in their play and plenty of dash, in cleverly the Civilians forwards are by no means far behind, if we take into consideration the play of G. Singh, G. H. Fowler and Pyara Singh. The Civilians wingers, S. Fowler and J. Wall, are fast and clever, but Parlaub, the Services' outside C, is in front of both in stickcraft and speed.

This close analytical survey of the players of both teams serves to show that the Services have more playing points than the Civilians, and for that reason, I rather fancy them to win.

The teams: Civilians—U. B. Souza, V. C. Band, A. E. P. Guest, R. J. Reed, W. A. Reed (Capt.), N. Whitley, S. A. Fowler, G. Singh, G. H. Fowler, Pyara Singh and J. Wall. Reserves: R. Xavier, R. Marques and J. Pinto. Services—Pte. Osman, L/Bdr. Carrier or Lt. Carr, Datta Ram, Bdr. Dilnot, Lt. Hook (Capt.), Lt. Firth, Anderson, E. R. A. Gemmel, Lt. Pritam Nath, Nerrain Singh and Parlaub.

Civilians will appear in white and Services in colours.

Bully-off 4 p.m., Club ground.

Army Football HEAVY BATTERY WIN LEAGUE FINAL MATCH

The final of the Army League took place at Sookunpoo yesterday and resulted in a win for the 24th Heavy Battery R.A. who defeated 27th Company, R.A.M.C. by four goals to one.

At the conclusion of the game the prizes were presented by The General Officer Commanding, Major-General A. E. Grasset, M.C., who gave a special word of praise to W.O. Austin of the A.E.C. who has been Hon. Secretary to the League during the past two seasons.

A small, but enthusiastic crowd was present at the game and there was great vocal competition between the rival supporters throughout.

The Medicals won the toss, but little was gained by this and for some time after the start play was mainly in mid-field. The R.A. were a much bigger side and took full advantage of their height when the ball was in the air.

The R.A. took the lead after a free kick when A. Smith made the mistake of coming too far out of his goal and Rankin was able to lob the ball into goal. Shortly afterwards they were put two up, Hodgson sending in a ground shot which Smith should have saved.

After the interval the Medicals attacked strongly and only a grand save by Minshall when Pym was clean through prevented them scoring.

R.A. went further ahead when Marshall worked his way through to beat Smith.

The Medicals obtained their solitary point when Garnde sent a long pass to Parkin who sent across to Mayhew to score.

Just before the final whistle Findlay notched a fourth point for the R.A. Minshall, Bullen, W. Taylor, Hill, Rankin, Beaton, Marshall, Atkins, Findlay, Summer and Hodgson. R.A.M.C.—Smith, Wheeler, Levington, Garnde, Barnsley, Florence, Mayhew, Roe, Pym, R. C. Smith and Parkin.

Sonja Henie, more dazzling than ever, turns romance in the young American way as queen of a college campus in "My Lucky Star," 20th Century-Fox picture which co-stars Richard Greene. The picture is now being shown at the King's Theatre.

L. Goldman Wins Handicap Singles Final

L. Goldman (—30) yesterday won the Hongkong Cricket Club Handicap Singles tennis when he defeated H. J. Armstrong (—15) 6-2, 6-2.

Goldman was not fully extended and in the second set he had things very much his own way. Armstrong tired quickly and on occasions made few, if any, attempts to return balls at all wide of him.

Armstrong played a much better brand of tennis than in the final of the Handicap Mixed Doubles, however, and during the first set had Goldman running from corner to corner with many fine placements.

LATE NEWS

"Raze The City" Warning

Shops throughout Chungking are mostly closed and many proprietors are moving their stocks.

Part of the telephone service has been renewed but there is still no lighting and many telephone wires are still down.

The streets are still clogged with debris, the main thoroughfare being impassable.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has commandeered all private and public automobiles to evacuate civilians.

Chinese reports say that Japanese planes to-day dropped handbills warning that they will "raze the city" in seven days unless it is evacuated.

They did not indicate what action would be taken if the city was evacuated.

Rain has added to the hardships of thousands of homeless. Searchers are still piling up heaps of dead among which Chinese are searching for their relatives, some are even extracting gold from teeth of the dead and searching for gold and silver ornaments. This was later prevented by guards.

The stench is increasing and foreign doctors are fearing epidemics, due to Chungking's abnormal population, now estimated at 2,000,000.—United Press.

Official German View Of Speech

Berlin, May 5. The official view of Colonel Beck's speech was contained in to-night's "Diplomatische Korrespondenz" which rejects Colonel Beck's argument rather in the detailed manner in which Herr Hitler replied to President Roosevelt.

The paper says that Colonel Beck tried to justify the volte face of Polish foreign policy since the end of March, but if Colonel Beck believes he will find comprehension and toleration for this denunciation of the 1934 policy, and for adherence to the British front of encirclement, it must be declared that he is mistaken.

The official news agency issued a version of Colonel Beck's speech to-night, and this is appearing in Saturday's "Boerschen Zeitung" under the heading "Beck's Miscalculated Attempt At Diversion—Denial of German Proposals."

Meanwhile, alleged anti-German incidents in Poland are being reported in increasing numbers in the press. Newspapers assert that a gathering of Poles at Posen paraded a dummy of Hitler, hanging it on gallows, and then staged a demonstration outside the German Consulate, shouting insulting remarks.—Reuter.

Japan Out Of Davis Cup

TOKYO, May 6. The war-time strain has compelled Japan to refrain from participating in the Davis Cup tourney this year. Jiro Yamaguchi, Japan's No. 1 player, has volunteered for service in the Navy and has successfully passed the entrance examination for the Naval Paymasters' School.—Domei.

Time For Finesse Passed—Beck

WARSAW, May 5.—In response to repeated demands by demonstrators outside the Polish Foreign Office, Colonel Beck appeared on the balcony and made a short speech. He said that the time for diplomatic finesse was past, and the whole country must have a determined attitude.—Reuter.
